Following crash, RR crossing will get lights

A car/train collision Monday at a railroad crossing on the Old County Road in Greenwood miraculously resulted in only minor injuries to the sole occupant of the car, Judy Bennett, 54, of Bryant Pond. Bennett suffered only a laceration on her forehead, despite having her car spun around and flipped on its side by the train. She was wearing her seatbelt and her airbag deployed. It took fire and rescue personnel from Greenwood and four other nearby towns 90 minutes to free Bennett from her vehicle. On Tuesday, an MDOT official said flashing lights and pedestrian bells will be installed at the crossing within two years. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

First-in-the-nation wood technology is up and running in Bethel

Bethel Furniture Stock seeks new niche with Danish 'precompression' wood processing

By ALISON ALOISIO
Imagine: a slinky toy made of wood.

Leon Favreau and his team at Bethel Furniture Stock not only imagined it, they made one, using a new press machine that precompresses the wood.

Not that the West Bethel furniture-stock supplier is going to start marketing slinkies anytime soon. The rough model made by Favreau and his crew simply served to demonstrate the wood's flexibility.

With heavy competition from China, BFS plans to use the technology to create a new niche for itself in the furniture stock business.

The company purchased the new press from Compwood Machines Ltd of Denmark about a year and a half ago. BFS is the first company in North America to use the machine, Favreau said.

The process works by placing steamed wood in the press, which compresses it lengthwise to about 75 percent of its original length. The wood is altered at the cellular level, by making the normally rigid cell walls fold over on themselves.

It takes from three to six minutes. The wood is then removed, and returns to within 5 to 6 percent of its original length. But it retains amazing flexibility. A half-inch dowel made from the wood can be tied in a knot, as long as the wood is still moist.

How does this help Bethel Furniture Stock?

BFS' first customer for the technology was W.A. Mitchell Co. of Temple. The Bethel company supplies Mitchell with a curved chair back and arm. "It goes into a chair they designed but couldn't make, because they couldn't bend the wood," said Leon Favreau, president of Bethel Furniture. "The process works very well for compound bends."

Favreau said small furniture companies that lack bending technology will be his primary customers. And it's an area in which mass-production in China should pose little threat. That's a good thing, since BFS' overall business declined by about 25 percent over the past year because of foreign competition.

"I'd like this to become about a third of our bending business," said Favreau. The company also employs traditional steam bending techniques. Its products are sold all over the United States.

Former head of land acquisition for Nature Conservancy urges: 'Think locally, act locally'

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

David Morine has, since he was a boy, spent part of each summer in Maine. In his new book, "Vacationland, a Half Century of Summering in Maine," he attributes his life's work in conservation to the influence of Maine. He will be at Books-N-Things of Bethel to sign copies of the book on Saturday, Sept. 1 starting at noon.

When Morine was in high-school, his parents purchased a lot on the lower bay of Kezar Lake. "A thrill swept over me as I watched Mom and Dad sign the papers back at Mr. Severance's office," Morine writes. "I liked buying real estate." Soon, he purchased three lots on Horseshoe Pond.

David Morine publishes book based on a lifetime as a summer visitor here

After college, Morine went into real estate developing. But he discovered that he was doing battle with his conscience. Then, another large parcel of land on Horseshoe Pond, owned by the Stone Sisters, became available for sale. He tried to buy it — with a limit of developing ten lots rather than the 40 100-by-100 foot lots the parcel could have supported at the time.

He wasn't able to buy the land, but the Stone Sisters liked his suggestion of limiting development to ten lots. And that is why Horseshoe Pond is sparsely developed and how a conservationist was born.

A few years later, Morine switched fields, from development to conservation. He accepted a job with the Nature Conservancy, eventually becoming the head of land acquisition.

"My idea of conservation is that you have to have the traditions and values that go with a piece of land," Morine said.

In the early 1970's, Morine and the Nature Conservancy convinced the State of Mississippi to set aside $15 million for conservation. It was the biggest single state expenditure at the time, made by the poorest state in the country.

"We went to the sportsmen," he said. "In Mississippi, one of every two people buys a hunting license. But there was no guarantee that there would be a place for people to hunt."

Morine retired from the Nature Conservancy in 1990. Now he writes and volunteers with land trusts.

"Land trusts are where real conservation happens," he said.

Telstar fall sports preview: the teams, the players, the outlook

By ALISON ALOISIO

Soccer
Last year, the Telstar High School soccer team scored more than 40 goals over the course of the season. This year, said coach Nate Buckman, "If we score 20 goals in 14 games, I'll be the happiest coach in the league."

The team is rebuilding its offense after losing most of it to graduation. Last year's seniors, said Buckman, scored 85 to 90 percent of the goals. That team knocked off #1-ranked Dirigo in the playoffs before losing to Freeport in the Western Class C semifinals.

The key this season, said Buckman, will be "how quickly these kids who only played one or two varsity games last year play ever game."

Defense should not be a problem. "We're more experienced in defense," Buckman said. There's a bit of irony there, because Buckman and assistant coach Tim Remington were both goal-scoring forwards when they played for Telstar in the early 1990s. Both rank in the top 10 career goals scored. But, said Buckman, they can still coach defense because "we know how to stop ourselves."

Maryland boy killed in Bethel Inn elevator accident

By MICHAEL DANIELS

An 8-year-old Maryland boy was crushed to death last week in an elevator accident at the Bethel Inn.

According to state authorities, Joseph Smith of Bel Air became trapped between the flexible metal grate on the elevator and the swinging door from the elevator into the lobby.

When the elevator was called to the second floor, the boy was squeezed to death against the ceiling of the doorway.

A staff worker, checking to find why the elevator did not respond to the second floor, found the boy's body.

Bethel police, rescue and fire personnel responded, but the child was declared dead at the scene, according to Steve McCausland, spokesman for the Maine Department of Public Safety.

The boy and his family were staying at the inn when the accident occurred.

McCausland said the boy, his twin sister and his father, Jeffrey Smith, had gone to the main floor for breakfast when the father briefly returned to his room to retrieve something he had forgotten.

The accident happened while the father was gone.

The boy's twin sister is believed to have been the only witness to the accident.

Allen Connors, general manager of the inn, said Tuesday: "We are all very sad and upset for the family."

Following the accident, counseling was offered for inn staffers and responders.

Flaws found in elevator
The elevator, which had been installed in the 1920s, was inspected in June by a state-licensed inspector, who cited 10 violations.

State officials said later than none of those violations involved passenger safety nor play a role in the fatal accident.

However, a re-inspection the following day found there wasn't as much space as required between the folding metal gate and the elevator doors.

Rules that went into effect in March of this year limit that gap to four inches, but in the Bethel Inn elevator the gap was seven inches.

The 4-inch rule is intended to

VET HAD SECOND OPINION

To the Editor:

While we are grateful The Citizen printed and responded to our letter about the "Bear Mauls Horse" story in the Aug. 9 issue, we feel The Citizen did not look further into this incident, but merely revisited the same personal opinions that were stated in the first story. We hope this information will put to rest, once and for all, any fears that this story might have generated.

After reading the differently worded version of the first story, we did a little further investigation of our own. We decided to contact the veterinarian who stitched Smokey's lacerations, since The Citizen mentioned an unnamed vet in the first story, as part of the consensus opinion of this so-called bear attack.

We contacted the vet, a well-known and extremely respected horse veterinarian with over 40 years experience in the field, and during our conversation, he told us that after being called to the scene, he got to work stitching up Smokey's injuries, while a group gathered, speculating and convincing each other that this was a bear attack. He waited until he returned home, called the owner of the horse and told him this was, without a doubt, not a bear attack. He also told him that the nature of the injuries were clearly barbed-wire related.

We have to ask ourselves, where did this bear attack theory originate? Why was a bear hunter, and game warden, called to the scene at the same time as the veterinarian? Why wasn't the veterinarian named and quoted in the first or second story? Craig McLaughlin, bear study leader of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, was only given a description of the injuries by phone, as described by the bear hunter, but he never saw the injuries for himself, nor did he have the benefit of the veterinarian report. When we talked to Craig, he said barbed wire fencing was never mentioned. Why was a bear attack story given credibility given the condition of the barbed wire fence, and the vet's report? This bear attack was obviously a foregone conclusion, not based on facts but opinions.

Susan Roberti and Trina Boelsma
Bethel

Editor's note: Usually at this point in such discussions The Citizen will bow out, we hope gracefully, resisting the temptation to have the last word. Our plan in this case was to simply check with the veterinarian to make sure the letter writers' account of their conversation with him was essentially accurate, to note this at the end of their letter and then to say no more.

But after speaking with the vet, Dr. E.L. "Doc" Cooper of Chesterfield, we feel we must tell readers that his account of the incident with Smokey and his conversation with the letter writers is not entirely consistent with the account above.

Dr. Cooper certainly does not think the incident was a bear attack. (And in its Aug. 9 article, The Citizen erred in implying that he was included in the bear-attack "consensus" among the horse owner, game warden and hunter.)

In 50 years of practice, Dr. Cooper said, he has never seen a bear attack on a horse (although he has treated many cattle that have been attacked by bear). That experience, coupled with the general observation that horses and bears seldom have reason to encounter each other, led him to "surmise" (his word) that Smokey was not attacked by a bear.

But as to his stating unequivocally this was "without a doubt, not a bear attack," as the letter writers claim, this seems to overstate his position. In fact, he told The Citizen he would not categorically rule out a bear attack. "As far as what actually happened, who knows how it got injured?" he said.

And as to the letter writers' assertion that he said the injuries were "clearly barbed-wire related" — not so, said Dr. Cooper (We read Dr. Cooper the third paragraph of the letter).

"I didn't say anything about barbed wire, no," he said. "It could have been that, it could have been branches, it could have been anything, it could have been a stone wall, it's hard to say, no idea in the world."

For whatever context it might provide, there was a similar attack reported earlier this year in Sidney. According to Mark Latti, spokesman for the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, two witnesses observed two yearling bears attacking a horse and a pony in a field. The horse and pony both suffered "cuts and scratches on their backs and bellies," Latti said.

The incident with Smokey is clearly one of those situations in which people of good will are going to look at the available evidence and come to very different conclusions regarding its import. But in this case it is important to keep in mind one persistent theme that runs through all the conversations we have had about the incident: Whatever might have happened to Smokey that night, bear attacks on livestock in Maine are extremely rare.

And as DIFW biologist McLaughlin was quoted in our Aug. 9 article as saying — even if there were an attack, "I don't think it translates into any sort of threat to the human population. It's so remote I wouldn't have any concerns about it myself."

Such incidents can serve at least one positive purpose: to remind us of the need for using common sense when outdoors, and for treating Ursus americanus the same way we want to treat all our neighbors — with respect for their lives, their uniqueness and their space. —MRD

OPPORTUNITIES TO SELL CRAFTS

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is pleased to be offering two opportunities in the coming months to local craftspeople who would like to sell their wares.

The first one is the fourth annual Bethel Harvest Fest's arts & crafts event, scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 22 on the Bethel Common. The second opportunity is the Local Wares Fair, to be held at the Bethel Inn's Conference Center, on Friday, Nov. 23.

The chamber is very aware of the magnitude of the "home-based" arts and crafts industry here in western Maine and the economic impact that it has. It is our hope that the local craft producers use the chamber's events to reach their customers. Information regarding either of these events can be obtained by calling 824-2282.

GEARING UP FOR SKI SALE

To the Editor:

There will be a planning meeting for this year's Bethel Outing Club Ski Sale on Sunday, Sept. 9 at 7 p.m. in the Stone Mountain Mortgage building on Main Street, Bethel. The 21st annual ski sale is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26 and 27, and will offer the usual broad array of alpine, cross-country and snowboarding equipment. Ski shops that would like to be added to the equipment vendor mailing list should contact Ann Speth at 824-2586. Proceeds of the sale benefit local youth ski programs.

HARVEST FEST IS COMING

To the Editor:

The Harvest Fest Committee is pleased to announce that the popular Scarecrow Contest will be held again this year. We encourage individuals, organizations and businesses to enter, and hope that the Bethel area will once again be well-decorated with these symbols of the harvest season. Judging will be done early morning on Saturday, Sept. 22, and results posted at the Chamber booth on the common. For contest rules, entry forms and more information on categories, please call the Chamber office at 824-2282.

We also invite businesses or organizations to provide scarecrows for each of the Gateway signs at entry points into town. Participants will get special mention in the Harvest Fest brochure. Call the Chamber or Jackie Cressy (824-0508) to volunteer to decorate a Gateway sign.

The Harvest Fest also represents an opportunity for area non-profits to hold fundraising activities on the common. (Each organization or individual will need to provide own canopy, table, etc.) Call the chamber to reserve space for a nominal fee.

YOU HAVE TO BE FLEXIBLE TO STAY COMPETITIVE
Leon Favreau, president of Bethel Furniture Stock, displays some of the "experiments" done to demonstrate the flexibility of precompressed wood. "Everyone likes wood, but there are some things that can only be done with plastic or metal," he said. Precompression provides the best of both worlds.

Down the road, Favreau plans to explore the potential for marketing precompressed wood in the crafts, boat-building and housewares industries. "But we know the furniture business best, so we're trying that first," he said.

It may be slow going for a time. "Because it's so new, furniture companies are having a problem with the concept. We have to use a lot of our own imagination to show businesses what they can do. But a lot of business is going to China, so it should be a time for them to look for something different," said Favreau. "Everyone likes wood, but there are some things that can only be done with plastic or metal," he said. Precompression provides the best of both worlds.

He expects up to eight of his employees to be involved eventually in the precompression portion of the business.

It's a learning process to master the technology. "We're connected by modem to the company in Denmark," said Favreau, so the manufacturer can help BFS troubleshoot the computer-run machine.

Favreau hired craftsman Gary Gallant and John Lucas, who has a masters degree in wood technology from the University of Maine, to help with the project.

Bethel Furniture Stock has about 80 employees, with between $5 and $6 million in sales annually.

prevent accidents such as that which took place last week.

The ASME's handbook on elevator standards states: "The purpose of this requirement is to reduce the possibility of a person or object being caught between the hoistway door and the car door or gate." This deficiency in the Bethel Inn elevator had not been noted in the June inspection.

This week Commissioner Catherine Longley of the Department of Professional and Financial Regulation said letters will be delivered to about 180 businesses statewide that may own similar elevators.

The agency will ask the owners to have the elevators reinspected or provide proof that they are safe.

Briefly

Rollover in Grafton

GRAFTON NOTCH—Justin Gilbert, 22, of Bethel received minor injuries in an early-morning accident Friday on Route 26 in Grafton Notch. Gilbert was traveling south when he rolled and cartwheeled his 1994 Toyota pickup truck, according to deputy Justin Brown. Gilbert later said he fell asleep, Brown said. Gilbert then climbed out of the vehicle and went into the woods because "he said he was scared," said Brown. Gilbert found a brook and followed it toward the road, ending up at a home in Newry later in the morning. During that time an unofficial search by firefighters and law enforcement officials was organized. Gilbert, who was checked by medical personnel, has been charged with failure to report an accident and leaving the scene. Speed was a factor in the accident, said Brown.

Puiia's to close

RUMFORD—Puiia's Hardware and Home Center in Rumford will close for good Friday, according to brothers Tom and John Puiia. They cited increasing difficulty in getting employees willing to work long hours. They bought the store from their parents Nick and Dot, in the early 1990s. The business opened in 1953 as a lumber yard. The replica of Paul Bunyan that has been located at the store for years will not be sold, the Puiias said. They are considering offering it to the town.

River grant approved

NEWRY—A federal grant for $96,649 has been approved to correct some of 181 documented erosion sites along the Sunday River. Another $78,351 will come in the form of volunteer labor and contribution of equipment, materials and supplies, according to Jeff Stern, district manager for the Oxford County Soil & Water Conservation District. The grant starts next spring. It follows last year's survey of the watershed by volunteers, documenting soil and sediment erosion.

Fire on Hawk Mountain

WATERFORD—Firefighters returned to Hawk Mountain Saturday afternoon to douse a forest fire they thought they had extinguished Saturday morning. The fire at the top of the mountain was first reported at 4 a.m. Saturday, possibly started by fireworks. But it reignited, causing tree trunks to tumble down the mountain as the roots burned and making conditions more difficult for firefighters. A Maine Forest Service helicopter dropped water on the fire, which burned about 10 acres, Saturday afternoon.

Ripple effect from mill closure

BETHEL, N.H.—Steve Roach and Kurt Tourangeau weren't laid off by the pulp and paper mills that dominate the local economy, but they feel some of the pain. Both sell things that people without paychecks can do without for a while — furniture and appliances for Tourangeau, cars for Roach. Local sales are off 25 to 30 percent, Tourangeau said last week. The layoffs at Pulp and Paper of America began Aug. 12 in response to a weak market and internal financial problems. By last week, all but about 100 of the roughly 860 workers at the mills had been idled. Mayn doubt their jobs will resume anytime soon. The effect is also being felt in Maine and the upper corner of Vermont. Reg Gilbert of Bear Paw Lumber Corp. in Freyburg said deliveries to the Berlin pulp mill, usually 100 cords of wood a week, have stopped. "Everyone that can is moving products to other locations, but if this thing goes on too long it is certainly going to have a negative effect on people in the industry," Gilbert said. "Some sawmill operators will go out of business."

A bodacious bodice-ripper

BETHEL—The Victoria Inn was included as one of the 10 favorite inns in the Northeast in a Ski Magazine article titled "Ski Country's Best Beds," by Sandy MacDonald. "By rights, several of the 15 rooms in this turreted 1895 painted lady should come equipped with their own Fabio clones — they're that paperback-romantic," wrote MacDonald. Her review appeared under the title, "Let the Bodices Rip!"

Missing hiker's body found

FRANCONIA, N.H.—The body of a missing New York hiker was found Tuesday after three days of searching by state officials and hundreds of Orthodox Jews. The body of Abraham Hauer, 53, of Brooklyn was found at 11:45 a.m. by Fish and Game officers about 200 yards from a vest believed to be his. The vest was found Monday by searchers near Lafayette Brook, away from any trail in Franconia Notch. Officials said the death appeared to have been natural. Hauer did not return from what was supposed to be a 15-minute hike with his wife Sunday afternoon. His wife said the couple took short hikes during their summer vacations in New Hampshire, but were not experienced hikers.

Should be good bear season

AUGUSTA—Bear season began Aug. 27, and several factors, including this summer's dry weather, could make 2001 a very successful season for bear hunters in Maine, according to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife. "The recent dry weather has limited the size of berry crops that dominate bear's diets during the late summer period and nut crops do not appear to be abundant. Due to these factors, bears will be very active and we expect hunters to have excellent success during the first weeks of this year's three-month season," said Craig McLaughlin, leader of the Department's bear studies. However, the lack of late-fall food should result in many bears entering dens by mid-October, and deer hunters will encounter few bruins in northern reaches of the state during November. Maine hunters posted record harvests in 1999 and 2000, when they registered 3,483 and 3,951 bears, respectively.

Road race in Waterford

WATERFORD—The second annual Waterford Fall Foliage Road Race will take place Sept. 16 at 11 a.m., rain or shine. A one-mile run is offered to all ages (no pets please), followed by the 5K Road Race. Following the race will be the "Great Western Maine Chile Cook-Off," sponsored by the Greater Bridgton Lakes Region Chamber of Commerce. Registration forms are available at Tut's Store, the Waterford Town Office, New Balance in Norway. For more information call 583-4611. The cookoff is open to any business/organization or personal entry, with awards for Judges' Pick and People's Choice. Categories can be vegetarian, bison, beef, chicken, etc.

Downhill Derby rescheduled

WEST PARIS—The West Paris Downhill Derby has been rescheduled for Sept. 9, on Derby Hill on Kingsbury Street, West Paris. The race will begin at 1 p.m., for girls and boys ages 7 to 17, from any town. Refreshments will be served. For more information call 674-3325.

Farm guide available

FARMINGTON—"A Guide to Farms, Farmstands, and Farmers' Markets in the Mountain Counties of Maine" provides information about farmers who offer their goods direct to customers, usually on the farm. Jo Josephson visited more than 100 farms in preparing the guide for Mountain Counties Heritage. The region includes Oxford, Franklin, Somerset and Piscataquis counties. The guide is intended to promote direct encounters between the featured farmers and both residents and visitors in the region. It is available for $2 from chambers of commerce and selected stores in the region, or by writing MCH at P.O. Box 508, Farmington, ME 04938.

From the Bethel Police Log:

Motorcyclists injured

At 4:50 p.m. on Aug. 26 police responded to a car/motorcycle accident on Route 2. The motorcycle operator was apparently cut off by the turning car. The bike hit the rear of the car. The motorcycle driver was taken to Stephens Memorial Hospital for lacerations, a broken ankle, possible broken ribs, a possible back injury and a head injury.

Saturday, Aug. 25

At 12:41 a.m. a subject was observed at a Route 2 business in his vehicle. The officer had previous knowledge he had a warrant for failure to pay a fine. The warrant was confirmed and Adam Papaik, 21, of Greenwood was arrested. A small baggie of marijuana was located on the subject. He was also charged with operating after suspension and possession of a usable amount of marijuana.

At 10:24 a.m. police responded to a two-car accident on Route 26. The driver of one was complaining of neck pain and dizziness. She was checked by rescue. Paperwork was filed and the officer cleared.

At 4:55 p.m. police responded to a personal injury accident involving a motorcycle on Route 5. The operator had apparently hit some loose gravel or stone, causing him to lose control and dump the bike. He suffered road rash on his face and a possible concussion. He was checked by rescue, but refused transport.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists all cases of adults being arrested or issued a criminal summons, but does not include all reports of other police activity. Morine

SUMMERS IN MAINE

David Morine and his wife Ruth, along with Billy Ray, enjoy the view from the rock in front of their summer home, Donna's Domaine, on the lower bay of Kezar Lake. Morine's new book, "Vacationland, a Half Century of Summering in Maine" chronicles his summer vacations spent in western Maine, and the call to conservation he found here. Morine was head of land acquisition for the Nature Conservancy, and works with land trusts to conserve local land, values and traditions. (Photo by Rebecca Zicarelli) servation happens," he said. "It's where local values are used to conserve local land. People used to say 'Think globally, act locally.' I say, 'Think locally, act locally.'"

One complaint he frequently hears about conservation is that it takes land off the tax rolls. "I believe that the value seeps to surrounding land," he said. "You don't lose tax base, you make it up in the increased value of surrounding properties."

Morine said his idea of conservation is not so much environmentalism as social conservation. "I'm a dinosaur," he said. "I want to conserve the 50's."

When he was a kid, his father would let him use the motor boat. "After an hour, he'd tell me to stop," Morine points across the

'There are $75,000 lots with $10,000 camps on them. It puts pressure on local owners to sell, and pressure on new buyers to rebuild.'

DAVID MORINE

On the pressures facing shoreland owners on western Maine lakes

Lower Bay, "They run their jet skis from seven in the morning till seven at night," he complains. "Nobody has told them to stop. I come here for a pristine mountain lake. They come here for an amusement park."

These kinds of shifting social values, combined with economic pressure are eating away at the Maine Morine loves.

The road to his camp now has eight year-round homes. The other 30 plus camps are still seasonal.

"There are $75,000 lots with $10,000 camps on them," he said. It puts pressure on local owners to sell, and pressure on new buyers to rebuild.

"It's becoming suburbia," he said. "The road was always one lane. But last winter they couldn't get the snow off, so they've improved the road."

Morine isn't happy about that kind of progress. He's afraid it will encourage conversion of more camps to year-round homes, put more pressure on the lake. But he's resigned to the road being improved. It's not his decision, he said. He doesn't have to drive it in winter.

"As a summer person, you give up your right to dictate your values on year-round residents within the community. You're an interloper. All you can do is supply funding for good ideas."

Morine volunteers his time and expertise to the Greater Lovell Land Trust, bringing some of those good ideas to life.

It's important. He wants to keep Kezar Lake in the '50's. He wants to bring Ruth, his wife, here each summer, to the values and respect he finds in Maine.

"Values and respect," he said "that's the only hope we have of keeping Maine."

Book captures the flavor of 'the real' western Maine

By REBECCA ZICARELLI

Vacationland. The nickname evokes eating lobster under a giant pine; surf pounding the rocks as a lighthouse beacon shimmers across the bay.

David Morine's, "Vacationland: a Half Century of Summering in Maine," published by Down East Books (2001), expands that rock-bound image. Morine's short stories, many previously published in national magazines, extend the boundaries of Vacationland to encompass the western lakes and mountains. After too long spent languishing as New Hampshire's eastern province — the one with a sales tax — Morine brings the western part of the state back home to Maine.

Morine and his family began coming to Maine when he was three, shortly after World War II. He has been coming back, summer after summer, ever since. The early years were spent at the Little Beaver, a cottage the Morines rented for two weeks a summer, on Lovewell Pond in Fryeburg. As a young man, Morine purchased land on Horseshoe Pond and built a cabin, Donna's Domaine, on the lower bay of Kezar Lake.

Along the way, Morine found what he calls a "quiet call to conservation." Many of the stories chronicle the life-shaping impact Maine exerted on him, leading him from a career in real estate development to a career in conservation, as the head of land acquisition for the Nature Conservancy.

There are glimpses into a Maine almost forgotten; a Maine where winter ice was cut and stored for summer cooling, where spring water was collected in kerosene bottles for drinking. Morine describes a boyhood Maine where it was normal to search the dump to find the parts necessary for the most luxurious advance of all — replacing the out-house with a toilet.

"Vacationland" has a generous catch of fishing stories. In the "Just Lookin' for Fish," Morine recounts his passage to manhood with the catch of his first bass. The Rev. Jack Jordan, owner of Jordan's Camps on Lovewell Pond, helps Morine land the bass with the aid of a flashlight.

Morine describes Jordan as more Mainer than minister. It is obvious that being a true Mainer is as respectable as ministry in Morine's eyes.

Another Jordan, Rodney Jordan of Bethel, represents the heart of Maine. Jordan, who built Morine's cabin on Kezar Lake, appears in many of the stories. Jordan's various skills — building a field stone fireplace, finding moose, or handling a canoe on the Androscoggin — continually save Morine from his own flatlander sensibilities.

"Vacationland" rings with the cadence of the western hills. Morine captures the speech of Oxford County natives with rhythm and phrasing. Except for a few well-chosen passages, he avoids delving into dialect — dangerous territory for any writer trying to capture the character of Maine.

"Vacationland" reads like a perfect summer vacation. It's fun and easy, with plenty to ponder after the last page is turned.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published here by special arrangement with the Advertising Department of this newspaper.

It seems to me that after enjoying a pretty robust economy for some time, things are definitely starting to slip downhill. I know "they" say, whoever the heck "they" are, that all the economic indicators are looking pretty healthy.

"They" say that real estate sales are up - a good economic indicator. I say, then why are there so many houses with "For Sale" signs still in their yards after a year or so?

"They" say that unemployment figures are looking pretty good too, yet another good economic indicator. I say, then why are there so many people looking for work and why are so many mills and big businesses either closing or laying people off? "They" say the Gross National Product is moving up, another great economic indicator. I say then why is there a national deficit and why does the government need to pilfer Social Security by $9 billion?

Obviously, "they" don't use the same economic indicators that I do. I know that my math skills are not very good and I will be the first to tell you that I don't know diddly about economics and I would go so far as to say that if just one week my grocery bill was lower than my weight "they" might know what "they" are talking about.

But my grocery bill doesn't go down no matter how hard I try to cut corners. What is going down, however, is the size of the containers and packages that grocery items are packaged in. For example, when is the last time you saw a pound of prepackaged coffee? Somewhere along the line cans of coffee shrank from a pound to 13 1/2 ounces and the bricks of coffee shrank even smaller to 11 1/2 ounces.

A friend of mine sent me a fireball not long ago. You remember fireballs don't you? Those little red candy balls that are so hot you can't really suck on them and if you try to suck in some cool air when you have them in your mouth you're apt to choke to death. Those are the fireballs I'm talking about. I never understood why kids like them, I certainly didn't. Anyway, my friend reminded me about a column I wrote several years ago about the incredible shrinking tootsie roll and she just wanted to point out that now, by God, it's happening to the fireball too.

She was right. The fireball she sent me was no bigger than the average playing marble. What kind of economic indicator is that?

It's bad enough that my grocery bill goes into triple numbers week after week, but it's really adding insult to injury when I'm not even getting my triple numbers worth. I bought a can of Spam recently. Spam, once known as the poor person's budget saver was almost $3.00 a can! I just couldn't believe it. My budget was blown on a can of mystery meat.

And speaking of supermarket insults, I almost bought a lemon meringue pie (it's been too hot to bake). Being a little bit ingredient conscious, I checked out the label only to discover that the $6.99 plate of stuff was made with artificial lemon flavoring. In the candy aisle I picked up a bag of lemon drops and put them right back on the shelf when I discovered they were also made with artificial lemon flavoring.

Then I nearly flipped my lid when I reached for a furniture polish and saw the bold print on the label "With Real Lemon." This is insane, we're eating the artificial junk and smearing the real stuff all over our dining room tables. And, that furniture polish is not inexpensive. I'd rather they just left the real lemon out and charged a little less or maybe I should buy lemons and squeeze them on the pie, the lemon drops and the dining room table.

How about those new and improved products we pay dearly for? Most of these items we have seen advertised for years as the greatest, far superior to other brands etc. Well, if they were so great to begin with, why the new and improved?

The laundry detergent I usually buy is now "new and improved." I even allowed myself to think that this "new and improved" would result in whiter whites and bolder colors and spotlessly clean clothing. What a joke! I saw no difference in my laundry and when I compared the "new and improved" version with a bottle of the not "new and improved" version I still had I found no difference in the ingredients. Same chemicals, same artificial coloring. I thought that maybe it was the bottle that was "new and improved", but there was no difference, same shape, size and pour cap. However, when I placed them side by side I discovered the difference. The label was "new and improved" and I paid 25 cents more for this revolutionary breakthrough in laundry detergent!

That is definitely insulting, but what I find even more insulting is 4-pound bags of cat food. Whatever happened to 5-pound bags? I guess they went the same way as the pound of coffee. Once in a while I do come across a 5-pound bag, but the manufacturers let you know that you are getting 1 pound free. Free my kitty cat's tail end, it cost 30 cents more.

I just can't imagine how much higher prices can go and how much more they can shrink the product containers. "They" can say all "they" want about the economy being in great shape but you sure can't prove it by my pocketbook.

Real estate may be on the move, but I don't think that it's moving that much in Maine. There may even be a few more jobs available, but I bet they're either very low paying or only for the highly skilled.

The way I see it, when you can buy a pound of coffee and 5 pounds of cat food for a reasonable price and the fireball returns to the size it once was, then the economy will be on the right track. When that happens and my grocery bill is lower than my weight I will be the first to say Great Balls of Fire, it's a wonderful economy!

AUGUST 30

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston
Lee and Ginny Hutchins have a new grandson born Aug. 13, 2001 to Kelly and Michael Thibodeau of Freeport, named Landon.

Earl and Mary Keniston attended the wedding of grandnephew, Douglas W. Kimball, and Becki Toothaker, Saturday afternoon, Aug. 25, at the First Congregational Church in Waterford.

Sunday visitors of Earl and Mary Keniston were Kathryn Andrews Drown and Jean Andrews Mosher from Randolph, N.H. On Wednesday, Kathy, Jean and Mary visited Joan Keniston in Westbrook.

On Aug. 12, Evangeline Keniston of Bryant Pond celebrated her 80th birthday with her family at a cook-out at the home of her son, Kendall, on the Bethel Road in South Paris. It was also the birthday of her husband, Floyd, and daughter, Kathy. Those present were family, Floyd, Karen, Kathy, Kendra, Kendall and also grandchildren, Mat and Mitch.

Jen Shaw completed her summer at Camp Susan Curtis and will be working at Mt. Washington Auto Road after Labor Day.

Dr. Peter Levy of Santa Barbara, Calif. visited Dr. Lennie Shaw on Wednesday and Thursday, after being at a workshop in Boston.

The Mundt Allen Legion picnic was held at the Powell's Campground in Hanover this past weekend.

Doug, Deb and Claire Webster have purchased and moved to the former Wallace Saunders' house on Elm Street.

The Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings

As I was going to St. Ives, I met a man with seven wives. Each wife had had seven sacks, each sack had seven cats, each cat had seven kits. Kits, cats, sacks and wives, how many were going to St. Ives?

One night I had a funny feeling stomach and asked for Mylanta. The nicest nurse brought it to me. She was so kind, it really helped a lot. Thanks so much.

Vada and Dewy were in Sunday. Vada did some things to help me and she cheered me up a lot with nice words and a hug.

A lot of new ones coming in here this week.

Elaine Dresser is still bringing goodies to the Bethel House every month for all residents there. This month it was blueberry cake. Not only did she have blueberry cake for Bethel House residents, but for those now living at Ledgewood that once lived at Bethel House, Carroll Bean brought it in for us. Thanks, Elaine and Carroll.

Ann Troy, a neighbor in here, visited me on Wednesday p.m. Someone had to bring her in a wheelchair. I enjoyed her visit a lot. Come again Ann.

Thanks Nana for the pictures. You are so thoughtful.

I received my 44th birthday card on Aug. 15. Many thanks, Hi and Mary Lou.

Drew Webster brought John Kalis to see me Thursday. It was so good to see them. I had not seen John for ages. He goes south in October and he had not got back when I came in here. We always sat together at church.

Sunday River Valley

by Rockie Graham
I don't know about anyone else, but know that the air is cooler and crisper. I have begun to feel human, again. I can actually do more than one activity in a day, like go shopping and weed the garden. I have visited my garden several times this past weekend. I found the corn! It is pitifully short. The squash and pumpkins have flowers, but they all look like males and there is no sign of fruit. I got one ripe tomato before the critters did. David Fleet suggests mousetraps. I think I'll give it a try. I understand that the neighborhood skunk — that giant white guy — is no longer. He met the wrong end of a gun last week. Perhaps it was he who was attacking my tomatoes. We shall see.

As promised, an update on Nick and Sharon (Daye) Barker's baby. She was born two weeks early, but checked in at a healthy 7 pounds, 14 ounces. Her name is Denali Lynn Barker. Mother and baby are doing well. Grandparents Ed and Julie are delighted.

I met some new friends Saturday at the District Exchange, Cathy and Ashley. They are fairly new to the area having settled in West Bethel this spring. They along with Jane Hosterman helped me take out the biggest splinter I've ever seen. I am usually good about those things, but that one was deep and it hurt.

I was delighted, yesterday to see the Scott "girls", formerly of South Paris. They are the daughters of friend May and were camping at Umbagog. They are there with their daughters, husbands, and their father. It was great to see all.

I also saw state Sen. John Nutting this weekend. He is running for Congress next year. He has been an active environmentalist in Maine. He is a dairy farmer from Leeds and has worked tirelessly to clean up the Andy. I also believe he will block Bush's attempt to bring back the scourge of nuclear power. In any case, I was impressed when I met him at Sally and Dick Taylor's this Sunday. Someone to thing about in the coming months John has a great ability to cross party lines. Even Arlan Jodrey was there and was supportive.

Much more to say, but it is time to walk Tasha and get ready for the day. Have a great week and enjoy the last days of summer. Have a fun but safe Labor Day Weekend.

Gilead

by Elise Caswell
Aug. 20 saw Stephen and I into our 19th year of marriage with a promising bouquet of past and present.

After a long drive up from Boston to deliver my son Sam to a week of guitar study at Berklee College of Music, we set out for a lobster roll lunch at Breaux's. Yum. I couldn't help but overhear a conversation between two folks. A gentleman noticed a stone in a woman's necklace and remarked about it, a Maine amethyst. He talked about how he enjoys going rock and mineral hunting and that he actually does it as a job.

I've been reading the C.J. Stevens' book called "Maine Mining Adventures" and have become curious about geological events that have made Oxford County one of the richest mineral deposits in the country.

When the conversation was over, I had to ask him how he finds places to rock hunt and how he can tell one mineral from another. This is how I made the acquaintance of Bob Tuttle. Five minutes later I was invited to join a Rock Tour with the Bethel Express leaving the Summit Hotel at 8:00AM on Wednesday.

Bob took eight of us up to Mt. Apatite Park in Auburn to experience first hand the pleasure of discovering different specimens of mineral in what used to be an old feldspar mine.

It was a glorious day for moseying around in the dumpsites and asking millions of questions about rocks. Bob was funny and informative but best of all, generous with his knowledge of rocks accumulated over his lifetime of study right here in Bethel.

He shared what he knew about the forces that created the diversity of minerals at Rainbow Ridge. We found feldspar, pink spodumene, milk quartz, smoky quartz, black tourmaline and garnet. His enthusiasm was catchy and I came away from my mining adventure inspired to create the most colorful drip edge I can.

Now when I go out walking in the woods or hiking in the mountains I have a double purpose. Being a passionate birder, I often have my eyes to the skies but now I have a reason to look down and examine the rock on which I walk.

I'll be looking for more ways to add to my knowledge of minerals and hope to join the Oxford County Mineral Club. Thanks Bob. You are a gem.

On Tuesday morning as I was gearing up for a back-to-school cleaning of my house there was a knock on the door.

I received a visit from Don and Jenny Lord who are up from Florida reconnecting with the family history. Apparently Don was born right here in my music room on August 20, 1931 in what was then, the Ordway Farm.

As mentioned in my last week's article, Mona and I attended the Civil Air Patrol national conference in Cincinnati on Aug. 15 to 19. This conference found the CAP in the throes of a major reorganization, following investigations by Department of Defense Inspector General inspections.

Many of the seminars we attended dealt with the changes coming with the reorganization. Hopefully, the new ways of doing business will result in more accountability and new efficiencies in our operations, if only we can get through the trauma of the changes. In the past 18 months, we have been visited by a DOD IG team, an Air Force inspection, a "Survey Audit" by the CAP Northeast Region and a staff assistance visit. We are scheduled for another Air Force IG inspection in October, and Northeast Region wants to do a survey audit of Maine Wing before the IG gets here.

The most impressive function at the conference was the opening ceremony. This ceremony found 60 CAP cadets, each carrying the flag of a CAP organization (the 50 state wings, plus Puerto Rico and Washington D.C., and each of the eight CAP geographical regions). Two parallel files of cadets marched slowly down the aisles from the rear of the auditorium to the front, flowing across the front to the side walls. They ended up standing in single file along the walls, the flags standing tall. Every senior member in attendance was proud to see such a fine example of our young people, feeling that we may be in good hands when the next generation takes over, after all.

When we returned home, the first place we went was to Elsie and Don Aylward's home, where we had left our dog, Snuffy. Of course, he was delighted to see us, and we asked Elsie and her son, Josh, how Snuffy had behaved. Josh had played with Snuffy and took him for daily walks while we were gone. Elsie said Snuffy had been real good, except for one evening when he would not stop barking. Finally, they got out a strong flashlight, shined it out through the dining room window and there stood a large bull moose, his antlers still covered in velvet, about halfway between Snuffy and their farm pond. I didn't ask, as it didn't occur to me until later, but I'm pretty sure Don didn't go outside to see what Snuffy was barking at.

Cindy Graham, her son Mark, daughter Shelley, and granddaughter Katie, from West Roxbury, Mass., have been vacationing at Howard Pond for a week. While here, they had the pleasure of visitors from Dummerston, Vt. including Sam and Laurie Garland and children, Liz, Jon and Lydia. They all enjoyed area sites, including Screw Auger Falls and watching the loons. One day, they borrowed kayaks from Bill and Gail Worcester and paddled around Howard Pond.

Judy Rudine and friends, Lydia and Lee, have been staying at the Luca cottage on South Shore Road. While there, they were plagued with telephone service problems.

Elizabeth Allen from Granville, Ohio stopped by Howard Pond to check on her wooded lot. Coming with her on a day trip from Lisbon Falls, were Mr. and Mrs. Noyes Lawrence. While in town, Mrs. Allen picked up a book that had been given to her by her cousin, Judy Ray.

Donna and Clem Worcester recently traveled to Rindge, N.H. for the New England Pythian Memorial Service at the Cathedral of the Pines. Because of rain that day, the service was inside the chapel. The Pythians from Massachusetts hosted this year's ceremony.

The Hanover Town Office will be closed Friday, Aug. 31 and Monday, Sept. 3, Labor Day. Please plan ahead because Friday is the last day of the month.

East Bethel

Alder River Grange thanks everyone who gave items for their yard sale on Aug. 25.

Steve and Bethney Pelletier and daughter, Alice, went to Santa's Village on Aug. 26. The Pelletiers are doing very well in their storage business this summer.

Jack and Lucy Nordahl returned on Aug. 23 from a week of camping at Lobster Buoy Campgrounds in South Thomaston. They enjoyed the camping area, as there were rocks, sand beaches and a place to get their boat in the water. Rockland wasn't too far away, and a day trip to Monhegan Island was enjoyed.

Chuck Haines and Angie Hebert were married in the East Bethel Church on Aug. 25.

Ryan and Sheila Bernier of South Carolina visited Andre and Flossie Bernier from Aug. 23 to Aug. 30.

Roger and Louise Twitchell, Dale and Nancy Kimball, Ruth Bethel and Nancy Mercer took the bus tour to Pemaquid Point on Aug. 22 that was sponsored by the Bethel Senior Citizens.

Alder River Grange will host the Oxford Republicans to a supper on Sept. 11 at the hall. The public supper schedule is as follows: Sept.

15 is the chicken potpie; Oct. 13 is the harvest supper; Oct. 27 is Halloween night; Nov. 4 is the turkey supper. Any veteran can have a free supper in honor of Veteran's Day.

The Remington/Harrington Reunion at Arlene Harrington's on Aug. 19 had a larger than usual crowd this year including Charmaine R. Cote of Farmington, N.H.; Stan and Marilyn Remington of Fayette; Kathleen DeVona of Skowhegan; Ed Remington of Livermore Falls; June Remington of Livermore Falls; Donna Garvin of Anson; Bob and Barbara Remington of York; Gary and Esther Fuller of Greenwood; Jim and Brenda DeVona of Embden; Howard Staples of Portland; Dori and Carl Hallman with Whitney and Heather of Durham; Shannon, Micaela and Hannah Smith of West Paris; Stephanie, Eric, Meghan and Josh Wardwell of Oxford; Judy and Dawson Smith of Surry; Sean and Shay Smith of Hudson; Don, Karen, Jacob, Jeremy and Jamie Lanpher of East Orland; Wayne and Wilma Bean, Jen, Katie, Taylor and Rick Merrill of Andover; Jim and Stacy Coolidge of Andover; Dick and Angela Austin; Abby Smith; Scott, Lisa, Devin and Morgan Saunders; Gloria Crockett; Thelma Remington; Dean, Janian, Ross and Katelyn Gross; Pauline Smith; Robert and Anita Remington; Aaron and Kellie Crockett.

Charmaine Cote stayed over for a few days visiting with Arlene Harrington, going home on Aug. 21.

Jamie Lanpher of East Orland has been visiting with Arlene Harrington, returning home on Aug. 26.

Whitney Hallman of Durham visited with Arlene Harrington for a week, returning home on Aug. 26.

Have a nice week, but be careful with fire, as we have not had a great amount of rain yet, and it is still not promising for any in the near future.

Andover

As I might have told you before, I am the eldest of eight, so when I was growing up, baby-sitting was a way of life for me. But it was different when I had my first job outside my home. I was probably about 13, and was thrilled to be earning money doing what I had always done for free. Glynnis Roberts was my first boss. She was our next door but one neighbor and when she first asked me to baby-sit, I was so happy. Glynnis was like that, she made people happy. Despite her own personal tragedies, her long bout of ill health, she was always kind, and comfortable to be around. Glynnis died last week and my condolences go out to her family. She will be greatly missed.

Richard and Ronnieann Pelletier want to thank all the kind and caring people who stayed up all night to try and save their horse, Griffin. They were at the Ellis River Riders grounds when the horse, along with two others, got loose. The riders stayed up all night to help, even though they had a 30-mile competition the next day. Ronnie says that it is really nice to know how much people, even those you barely know, show how much they care. Sadly, Griffin was killed and will be greatly missed, especially by Brenda Bailey who rode him many miles. Griffin is home now, buried in the field by the old apple tree where he spent a lot of time. RIP Griffin.

YOUNG FISHERMEN
Dozens of kids turned out last weekend for the Kids' Fishing Contest held as part of the 25th annual New England Trappers' Convention at Neil Olson's in East Bethel. Fifth-four fish were caught, and winners were Ethan Blanchet, Buckton, Cody McGoyne of East Falmouth, Mass., Mike Price of New Brunswick, and Sherri Lord of Brewer. This year's weekend saw the largest turnout ever, according to Olson. He said he has had good luck with the weather over the years. "It has rained, but not much," he said.

As you probably know I am, or I should say I was, running for selectman. After yesterday, I am not running anymore, instead I am hobbling. Yes, I did it again. Stepped the wrong way into a hole and broke my ankle. I now have a really great cast, a "Dracula" shoe, the whole nine yards. I want to thank the personnel at the Bethel Family Health Center, especially Tony Simpson, for the wonderful care they gave me. Now I have to dig out my crutches and try to learn how to use them again. I guess clumsy is my middle name.

The word of the week is "surp-titious." Look it up. See ya.

The Newry Community Church picnic was enjoyed by about 25 people Sunday afternoon, Aug. 12. They came from surrounding churches, etc. The church committee furnished liquids and goodies. See you next year.

Is this the summer of the yellow flower? No matter where I stray, I see a yellow flower on my way. How is that for a little poetry? You didn't think I could do it? Well this little bit does prove it. Ha! Well now, about yellow flowers. How about the goldenrod? Did you see so many as this year? Although there are about 125 different kinds, most are found in the east. They say it may cause hay fever. The ragweeds are more the cause. Did you know that a tea made of the leaves that are dried is a great tonic that has the power to invigorate? It is a medicine that gradually restores the normal tone of organs from conditions of debility and it gives strength or vigor and tone. Try it. You can flavor it with a peppermint if you like. It is the state flower of Alabama, Kentucky and Nebraska.

"A great healing power fights on our side and wins most of our battles for us."

This week has been a quieter one in some ways. We had no doctor appointments and were in Norway only once this week. I think. It has gotten so a trip to Norway is so routine and so mundane that I give it no more thought than I used to do when I got groceries here in town at Hathaway's. About four or five years back I remember when our church invited some people from Norway to hold a meeting about some mutual concerns at our church and the comment was "but that's so far away," which was sort of amusing, since we don't give the miles much thought.

planning is 100th. We have very little concern but what he will make it. What the rest of the family including us wonders, is whether we will make it. Fritz is in remarkable shape and looks better than a lot of the rest of us.

It seems good to have had a little rain and some cooler temperatures. Even Ralph in Colchester, Vt. and Marcia and Jon in Presque Isle had weather that has been hot and dry. Jon spent a night in the hospital last week after doctors removed some scar tissue from his recent operation.

I was shocked to hear of the death of Bob Curtis. I'm sure the town joins me in offering sincerest sympathy to the family.

There have been too many deaths lately of people I have known: Jim Tuttle, Verna Dyke, Marjorie Menzies, Gertrude Hutchins, Judy Freeman Costa and no doubt others who were part of my life, and now Bob Curtis. I did not know Bob very well, but John often spoke of him and people who live in and around one's town and especially one as small as Locke Mills, seem somehow to become sort of a family and when things happen such as death, it impacts the lives of all of us. I was also saddened by the tragic death of the young boy at Bethel Inn.

For those who knew Don and June Smith's daughter, Crystal, when the Smiths pastored the Nazarene Church here, she was expecting twins and one of them died. Since they were identical and shared the same sac, doctors had no hope for the survival of the other one, but so far he has defied all odds and is still fine. Crystal is okay, too. She has seven more weeks to go. We covet your prayers.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday evening, Aug. 20, for Ladies Night. A 6 p.m. supper was held with 35 attending. Officers for the evening were master, Tillie Myers; overseer, Olive Risko; steward, Lorene Cobb; assistant steward, Gloria Abbott; ladies assistant steward, Betty Kerr; chaplain, Marion Morton; lecturer, Betty Bragg; gatekeeper, Cheryl Tibodeau; secretary, Laura Hutchins; treasurer, Anna Woodworth; Ceres, Janice Burgess; Pomona, Bunny Easter; Flora, Annella Burnham; executive committee, Anna Swan, Lucy Robbins, Lucy Ridley; CWA, Pat Breame, Elsie Haynes, Jackie Stevens, Althea Fish, Helvi Cary and Alice Hoyt; pianist, Dot Canwell. The hall was asked for use of TRIAD on Oct. 13th for a caring and sharing day. It was voted to give it to them. It was voted to put on the Republican supper Oct. 9, Sept. 3 is installation with West Paris Grange at Franklin.

Program went as follows: opening thought, "Jesus is the Light of the World"; opening song, "In the Garden"; welcome by master, Richard Felt; skit, Richard Felt and Fred Breame; skit, Gordon and Gloria Abbott; "Happy Birthday" sung to all August birthdays; Lucy Ridley played her harmonica; reading, "The Old Flour Sack"; Bertha DeHaas, Laura Hutchins, Lorene Cobb and Kayla Cobb sang a couple songs; style show by the ladies and song, "One Little Candle"; winners of the style show were best overall, Anna Swan; most original, Laura Hutchins; funniest, Lucy Ridley; most beautiful, Lucille Robbins; then a reading by Lucille Robbins, "My Get up and go just got up and went"; skit, Laura, Lorene, Kayla and Richard; Dot Canwell whistled a couple tunes; closing song, "Sing Your Way Home"; closing thought, "To love and be loved is a blessed event."

The Noyes reunion was held at the Grange Hall on Sunday, Aug. 19. Forty-one family members attended. A very delicious potluck dinner was held. A good time was had by all.

Patch the Pirate Club meets each Wednesday evening at the Baptist Church at 6:30 p.m., same time as prayer meeting. Sunday services are Sunday School and Adult Bible Fellowship at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 4:45 p.m. and evening service at 6 p.m. Looking ahead to Sept. 2, missionary Rick Lynn with Baptist International Missions will be at the church for all services. Saturday, Sept. 8, is Family Fun Day at Littlefield Beach from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Bring a salad or dessert to share.

The Rice family, Burnie, Gloria, Braydon and Vicki and dog, Molly, have returned home after a camping trip vacation to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, Canada. A wonderful time was had by all.

The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, Sept. 6, at the Grange Hall for a meeting at 11:30 a.m., dinner at noon, with a silent auction following the dinner. All senior citizens are welcome to attend.

Mrs. Kay Hoover has been visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Hoover and Marybeth. Remember schools are opening, so watch for children waiting for the school bus.

The Rev. Earle McKinney, former minister of the Universalist Church of Bryant Pond, died on Aug. 16 at a home on State Street in Portland. The article in "The Bethel Citizen" last week pertaining to the Universalist Church of Bryant Pond needs correction, as the church does have a deed by the legal work of the late lawyer Al-drich of South Paris and Evelyn T. Bean.

The Mason families held their yearly reunion on Curtis Hill recently. It was well attended.

I attended the wedding of Andrew Merrill and Lissa Butts on Aug. 18 in Waterford. It was a beautiful wedding on the banks of Keoka Lake. Excellent weather was on hand that day. After the wedding, a lunch was served of lobster, shrimp and other foods. They will make their home in Waterford. We wish them both much happiness.

Sunday, Richard and I went over to Bridgton to visit with our son, Rick and wife, Sally. Sally's birthday was recently, so we all had cake and ice cream and lunch. Later on, Ryan Wing and Moriah stopped by.

I had the pleasure of taking care of my great-grandson, Zach Lynch, for one entire day. I picked him up at 7:45 a.m. and had him until near 5 p.m., when his grandmother, Kellie Record came to get him. He was very good and wants to "help" you with everything. He is 2 years old.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Alice Billings, who died this past week. She was well known in this area.

Also sympathy goes out to the family and friend of Robert Curtis. He died suddenly and will be missed by all who knew him.

Ingrid Larsdotter and son, Jonas, visited with Marta Clements for two weeks. Ingrid was an exchange student from Gnarp, Sweden who lived with Marta and Nick several years ago. While Ingrid was here, she attended her 20th year class reunion at Telstar. Marta's son, Bruce Wear of New Hampshire, also attended, as was his 20th year class reunion also. Other family members were able to attend the reunion as well. They included David Clements, wife Audrey and children, Bruce Clements with wife Cindy and children.

One day Marta, Ingrid and son went to Nova Scotia for the day on the "CAT." They also did lots of swimming and fun things while here, as the weather was so good. One day David and Bruce Clements and kids climbed Mol-lockett Mountain as they had done long ago.

Eric and Yvette Larcaux joined Marta in the Belfast area for the Clements reunion.

Larry Billings, curator of the Woodstock Historical Society, reports that the annual picnic was at the home of president, Annella Burnham. Members enjoyed a balmy evening in her backyard and plenty of food. A short program was given by Elsie Bonney and a nominating committee was chosen. Final plans were made for History Day.

The annual History Day was a success with about 60 people attending. Donations came in from Betty Vienet, Ken McInnis, Sylvia Clark and David Willard. There was a flea market, food table, tours of the museum and booths in the parking lot. There was also a visitor from Heidelberg, Germany.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that a road map tells the motorist everything he wants to know, except how to fold it up again."

On the beautiful, sunny afternoon of Sunday, Aug. 19, 49 members of the Cummings-Waterhouse-Witham families converged at the home of Bruce and Karen Downing in Otisfield for their annual family reunion. They met at 2 p.m. for a most scrumptious dinner followed by a short meeting, then games and visiting. A good time was had by all, especially when Catherine and Cleveland Lovejoy provided us with beautiful music. Hope to see you all next year.

On Wednesday, Aug. 22, Anna Swan and Bertha DeHaas took grandchildren, Raven Moody, Joseph, Gwen and David Benoit Jr. to Funtown, USA in Saco for the day. We took two full coolers of food, milk and water to cover both lunch and supper and brought home two empty coolers. Boy, can the young folks really eat a lot. A good sign of healthy kids. We got re-routed on the way home due to road construction. While en route home, we saw the biggest moose any of us had ever seen over in Buxton.

Franklin Grange 124 held their Ladies Night supper on Monday, Aug. 20, with 35 in attendance. Officers for the evening were master, Tillie Myers; overseer, Olive Risko; lecturer, Betty Bragg; steward, Lorene Cobb; assistant steward, Gloria Abbott; lady assistant steward, Betty Kerr; chaplain, Marion Morton; treasurer,

Anna Woodworth; secretary, Laura Hutchins; Ceres, Janice Burgess; Pomona, Bunny Easter; Flora, Annella Burnham; gatekeeper, Cheryl Tibodeau; executive committee, Lucille Robbins, Anna Swan, Lucy Ridley; CWA committee, Pat Breame, Elsie Haynes, Alice Hoyt, Helvi Cary, Althea Fish; pianist, Dot Canwell. The program was as follows: opening thought, "Jesus is the Light of the World"; opening song, "In the Garden"; welcome by Grange master, Richard G. Felt; skit by Gordon and Gloria Abbott and skit by Richard G. Felt and Fred Breame; "Happy Birthday" was sung to Dot Canwell, Lucy Ridley, Anna Swan, Alice Hoyt, Betty Bragg, Alice Farnum and Bertha DeHaas; musical surprise by Lucy Ridley; monologue, "The Old Flour Sack" by Bertha DeHaas; vocal trio of Laura Hutchins, Kayla and Lorene Cobb; old-fashioned style show by the ladies; winners of the style show were best overall, Anna Swan; most original, Laura Hutchins; funniest, Lucy Ridley; most beautiful, Lucille Robbins; then a monologue by Lucille Robbins; skit by Laura Hutchins, Lorene and Kayla Cobb and Richard G. Felt; whistling by Dot Canwell; mystery march; closing song, "Sing Your Way Home" and closing thought, "To love and be loved is a blessed event."

Get well wishes go out this week to several of our faithful grangers: Russell Yates, Zylpha Gibbs, Connie Tuttle, Kathleen Holden and Mary Lovejoy. Hope you all are well on the mend now.

Franklin Grange will be putting on their annual Republican supper on Tuesday, Oct. 9. Tickets will be $6 each.

The TRIAD "Caring and Sharing Day" dinner will be held at Franklin Grange Hall, Main Street, Bryant Pond, on Oct. 13.

The double installation of Franklin Grange 124 and West Paris Grange 298 will take place on Monday, Sept. 3, at Franklin Grange, preceded by a 6 p.m. supper. The installation will be done by State Grange, chaplain, Wayne Sherman and his able team.

West Paris Grange 298 held their annual picnic/supper at the home of Amy and Earl Andrews on Allen Hill in Oxford, with 18 in attendance. Earl was the chef, yum, doing the hamburgers and hot dogs while the ladies brought a variety of salads and desserts. After supper, we took a tour of the Andrews' beautiful and extensive gardens. What a joy to behold, such well-tended and bountiful gardens.

We sat outside and planned our program agenda for the coming year and enjoyed the breeze as it played across the hilltop. The clouds overhead were what my Dad would have called "weatherbreeders." They heralded some much needed rain. We really need lots more. Even some of the wells are down quite a bit now. Hope we have some real good rains to fill them up and take away the forest fire danger.

On Sunday, Sept. 2, come on out to the West Paris Baptist Church, 16 Church Street, at 7 p.m. for the "Singspiration" program followed by refreshments downstairs. This is an evening of inspirational music. Come out and enjoy. Bring a friend.

Happy birthday greetings go out this month to Pastor Bruce Tynes of the North Paris Federated, West Paris Baptist and Rumford Baptist churches. Happy birthday from all your relatives and friends.

Congratulations go out to Sharon Felt Silver, owner and operator of Silver Creations, Main Street, Bryant Pond. Four short years ago, Sharon opened her shop on the "corner" of upper Main Street. Thanks to you all and your patronage, the shop has grown to "bursting at the seams," so Silver Creations is moving to 42 Main Street, where there will be lots of parking, four display rooms, a handicapped accessible ramp and an even greater selection of gifts and flower arrangements, still at the same reasonable prices.

The grand opening will be Saturday, Sept. 1 at 10 a.m. and will be open Sunday and Monday, Sept. 2 and 3, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Stop by during the grand re-opening celebration and remember to register for a $20 gift certificate. The drawing will take place prior to closing on Monday, Sept. 3. Regular hours of 1 to 6 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, will resume on Tuesday, Sept. 4. The shop will be closed until Aug. 31 while moving and unpacking takes place. If you need flowers, call 665-3131 and leave a message so service to you will not be interrupted.

As our young people return to school, be mindful of all the bikes, scooters, skaters and foot traffic so as to avoid accidents.

See you all next week.

Marilyn Bonney Ryerson arrived on Wednesday from Florida to spend several weeks with her sister, Beryl Bonney.

West Paris Cemetery Association held a meeting Thursday evening at the historical society building.

Wednesday was the 100th birthday of Perry Beach in Saco. There was a memorial celebration of the life of the Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes, a minister here at the Universalist Church back in the 1948 time frame. Those from here attending were Lena Dean, Beverly Stevens, Joyce Lamb, Joy Gasta, Joe and Peg Perham and Eleanor Inman.

East Stoneham

by Eleanor Nelson
Hi readers. Stoneham Rescue is again having their annual Labor Day breakfast from 7 to 10 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 2 at the Rescue Barn. This is always good and for a good cause. Will I see you there?

As I write this, I can see some raindrops coming down. We sure need more than a few drops, as it is terribly dry grounds and people's wells are going dry. It's not fun to have to carry water.

I missed going to the Oxford County Republican meeting and social hour and supper on Aug. 7 at the Fryeburg Fairgrounds. It's always enjoyable and informative. I believe I had to work that night. Anyway, the next supper and meeting is scheduled for Sept. 11 at the Alder River Grange for any and all Republicans. This is early notice, but we should be prepared. Don't forget to vote on Nov. 6. I'll expect to see you Stoneham people then.

I believe Sept. 1 is the last Stoneham Church thrift and bake sale and the last day donations will be accepted for clothing and material items. Right now the $1-a-bag sale is going on.

It's good to see Loretta back in circulation again. We missed you, Loretta. I'm enjoying the ceramic rabbit I got at thrift. He's on my windowsill over the sink and he gets my watch on his ears while I'm doing dishes. There's also a little vase from thrift with pretty pansies in it there.

Since last writing, I've put away a bushel of tomatoes and the 21 quarts look good for next winter on the shelves. They are so easy to can and are much better and handy than the store bought ones.

Shirley Grant from Mechanic Falls spent the past weekend with Frances Grant.

I can't think of any news right now, so will put on my Phil House music tape and make some apple pies. We sure enjoy fresh veggies and fruit.

Over twelve hundred members strong, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. During the past thirty-five years, the Society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. Since 1974, the society has operated from its Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House, a period house museum and research library. In 1999, it opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

White mountain historian Richard Joslin, author of a book on his ancestor Sylvester Marsh, who built and promoted the Cog Railroad up Mt. Washington, will be the featured speaker on that topic at the 36 annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society on Thursday, Sept. 6 in the exhibit hall of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Joslin, who lives in Cambridge, Mass. and is on the Smith College faculty, received his undergraduate education and M. Arch. degree from Harvard University. He was formerly the Director of Urban Design for the city of Boston and owned an architectural firm in Cambridge for twenty years until his retirement last year.

The lecture is free and open to anyone interested. A book signing opportunity will be available for those interested in obtaining Joslin's book on his great-grandfather.

A chicken barbecue beginning at 6:30 p.m. will precede the annual meeting and lecture. Those attending are requested to bring either a salad or dessert. At the annual meeting, officers and trustees will be elected, reports will be heard, the 2001 Noll Award for outstanding volunteer service will be presented, and new honorary members will be announced.

From the

Oxford Pomona Grange 2

West Paris Grange 298 hosted the Aug. 7 meeting of Oxford Pomona starting with the usual 6:30 p.m. supper. The group was smaller than usual, perhaps because of the very warm temperatures and the fact that the Pomona lecturer and those from subordinate granges were away attending the annual New England Lecturers' Conference, but the fellowship was still great.

In Stan Howe's absence, Laura Hutchins acted as lecturer. As this was Community Service night, she introduced state Rep. Tom Winsor, who was then escorted to the altar by Jim Lowe, in the absence of Pomona master, Connie Tutlis, presented the award with these words, "Oxford Pomona Grange Number Two is pleased to recognize the public service of Winsor of Norway to the Oxford Hills, Oxford County, the state of Maine and the Nation. He has served on the executive board of the Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce, as chairman of the Oxford County Republican Committee, as a member of the Norway Kiwanis Club, on the board of directors of the Maine Appalachian Trail Club, on the SAD17 board of directors and as a member of the American Legion following his service in the U.S. Navy during the Vietnam War. Since 1994 he has represented the towns of Greenwood, Norway, Waterford and West Paris in the Maine House, and for most of his years in Augusta as a member of the powerful Committee on Financial Affairs and Appropriations, where he has worked for the interests of his region and the state.

"On behalf of this Pomona Grange, I am pleased to present the 2001 Public Service Award to Tom Winsor."

The recipient then spoke a few words of thanks and of some current issues in the state Legislature.

The next meeting of Oxford Pomona will be on Sept. 4 at Lakeside Grange in Harrison where the installation of officers will take place. A 6:30 p.m. potluck supper will be served. It was announced that the October and November meetings would take place on a Wednesday instead of the usual Tuesday, as there is usually a conflict because of Election Day. There are also plans for conferral of the Fifth (Pomona) Degree in November at Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond, date to be announced.

From the

Bethel Rotary Club

This week at Rotary was a program presented by Rumpf Rotary Club member Jolene Lovejoy on Global Quest. Since August is Membership and Extension Month, it was appropriate for Jolene to explain Global Quest, which is a campaign, initiated by Rotary worldwide to increase membership in existing clubs and to build new clubs.

The Bethel Club is excited that its very own Dr. Michael Liberti will again be participating in the Rotaplast Medical Program.

What is Rotaplast? For the past ten years, Rotaplast (Rotary Plastic Surgery) has been providing free plastic surgery to the indigent children of South America for the repair of cleft lips, cleft palates, and other anomalies. We are fortunate to have such a generous member who is volunteering his time and resources to this wondrous cause.

Dr. Liberti is traveling to Maracaibo, Venezuela, where he will be participating with a team of approximately 25 volunteers from all over the United States. He will provide the team with chiropractic care as well as assist the medical staff in a variety of other areas.

He left this week, Aug. 29, and will be returning Sept. 10. This is his second Rotaplast trip; previously he traveled to Cochabamba, Bolivia, with the March 2000 team. As Dr. Liberti shared with us last year, this is truly a touching experience for both the volunteers and the children and their families when the results of their work are seen.

Inside Rotary Bon Voyage to Read Dickinson. How was that horseback riding, Anita and Cynthia?

Upcoming programs include Tim Placey from the Maine Children's Cancer Center and Dan Kunkle, Headmaster from Gould Academy.

Rotary International is a worldwide humanitarian service organization with over 29,000 clubs in more than 160 countries. Founded in 1905 in Chicago, members of Rotary are business and professional leaders united worldwide to provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations and help build good will and peace in the world. The Bethel Rotary Club meets Tuesdays, at 7:30 a.m. at The Bethel Inn and Country Club.

From the

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

The supper/dances which the unit has held each month have all been quite successful with both old friends and new attending. The next one will be held on Sept. 11 starting at 5:30 p.m. Norm and Betty DeCoteau will furnish the music for dancing. In October there will be a harvest supper and the music will be by The Parisians.

A letter received from the American Red Cross asked that I congratulate all the people who made the blood drive on Aug. 13 such a success, from the donors to the recruiters and other workers. Ninety donors signed in and 761 pints of life-saving blood were collected. The unit was assisted in this project by members of Franklin Grange in Bryant Pond, some of who belong to both organizations. The aim is to do even better next year.

On Aug. 16, the Post and Auxiliary had their annual family picnic with a smaller than usual group attending. All those who attended had their fill of hamburgers, hot dogs, corn on the cob and all the accompanying salads and deserts brought by the members. The Auxiliary held a short meeting after the picnic. The regular meeting schedule will resume next month with two meetings a month on the first and third Thursday at 7 p.m. The first meeting each month will be preceded by a 6 p.m. potluck supper.

Some members have attended the Second District outing at Mechanic Falls on Aug. 19 and the meeting of the Oxford County Council held at West Paris on Aug. 21. The annual fall conference of Legion and Auxiliary will be held on Sept. 15 and 16 in Bangor.

From the

Oxford County Democrats

Democratic candidates for the Second Congressional District race will answer questions and meet area residents at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 6 at the Waterford Municipal Building. The event is sponsored by the Oxford County Democratic Committee.

Candidates invited to attend include Susan Longley, Kaileigh Tara, David Costello, Sean Faircloth, Mike Michaud, Pat McGowan and John Nutting. Cathy Newell, Oxford County chair, will moderate, giving candidates equal time to answer questions submitted by both the event committee and the audience.

The public will be able to meet with the candidates informally after the program.

all teams make the playoffs. But this year, the setup has gone to brackets based on geographic location.

That may help Telstar and other Mountain Valley Conference teams. Some of the historically good teams from the coastal area -- three of which reached the Western Class C finals -- will eliminate each other before ever facing teams from the MVC. As a result, there will be two teams each from the two regions, Buckman said.

Field hockey
Over on the field hockey field, coach Gail Wight has the opposite roster from Buckman. Eight seniors take the field, with three juniors and four sophomores.

They are led by senior co-captains Katie Wight and Mariah Seames, both midfielders. "They're quick," said Wight, and very capable of directing play on the field. Other seniors include Abby Gilbert (midfielder/fullback), Meagan Gaudreau (goalie), Brenda Hurd (midfielder), Samantha Howe (halfback), Caroline Raymond (halfback) and Nikki Roberts (forward).

Juniors are Lauren Hart (forward), Heather Zimmerman (halfback) and Kate Caddigan (halfback); sophomores include Santana Wilson (halfback), Crystal Gould (midfielder), Alanna Borst (forward) and Ashley Stambolis (fullback).

"There are not a lot of kids out, but the ones that are, are very dedicated," said Wight. "There aren't a lot of subs. That's the core team that's going to play."

The players should be well-conditioned for a lot of time on the field. They've been running in the preseason with volunteer coach Jason Hewitt, a new teacher at Telstar. "He knows his stuff. They're in a lot better shape," said Wight.

Nineteen of the team members tested their endurance a couple of weeks ago at a week-long field hockey camp in Vermont -- during the week of the heat wave. They stood up well, she said, getting in a lot of stickwork drills.

Since then, she said, "we've been working on our passing game. They've had some fast passes." On defense, Gaudreau, in her third year as starting goalie, brings experience to the cage.

The Rebels will start the season tomorrow with a big game against Hall-Dale. Wight predicts Hall-Dale and Jay will be the teams to beat. She's also optimistic Telstar will finish well in the Mountain Valley Conference.

Golf

The Rebel golf team is young, with two juniors as the top players. Brian Zinchuk and Jordi Walker "will lead the way," said coach Jim Lunney. said "They could qualify for states."

As for the team overall, he said, "We hope to be competitive."

Mike Swan is the lone senior, in his second year. Other returning juniors are Ian Andrews and Dan Morgan. Sophomore Ben Shimamura also returns, and is joined by newcomers sophomores Travis Brooks and Simon Dumont.

Lunney hopes to pick up a freshman or two as the school year starts. The squad's toughest competition should come from Mountain Valley and Winthrop high schools.

Regardless of what this season brings, the players are looking for a bright future, Lunney said. Middle schoolers Brady Chapman and Sean Caddigan, who practice with the high school team, are strong players, he said.

"(The team) knows they'll be real good next year," said Lunney.

Cross-country

Like the field hockey squad, the cross-country team, both boys and girls, is long on seniors.

Boys in their final season are Josh Aylward, Joel Doyon, Bryan Wilson, Joe Reynolds and Mark Tanguay. Returning underclassmen are juniors Fred Bailey and John Reuter, and sophomore Dustin Angevine. Reynolds and Tanguay are newcomers, as is freshman Andy Aloisio.

"With a large number of veterans and several newcomers that show a lot of potential this should be a very competitive team in the MVC," said coach John Applin.

Veteran girls are seniors Anna Willard, a top runner in the state, and Shonna Young, as well as junior Sarah Gamble.

Applin hopes to add to the tiny girls' squad, and to the senior-heavy boys' team. Five runners are needed to score as a team. He's also recruiting for a middle school team. "A coach has been lined up and several students have expressed interest," said Applin.

SUMMER FUN—Summer vacation concluded this week, as area children returned to classes. Here's what some of them can write about in school (Clockwise, from top): The Bethel Rockies' James Kimball of Albany hit a grand slam during the summer baseball season. He is shown here with coaches Don Walker and John Kimball; The kids attending Camp Songo, sponsored by the Bethel Inn, put on a car wash last week to raise money for their end-of-season outing to BIG Adventure; Lance (left) and Kallie Brown were among two dozen children who participated in the Bethel Library's Summer Reading Program. They also concluded with a visit to BIG Adventure; Summer campers, ages 11 through 16, at Deepwood Farm enjoying an afternoon trail ride. Participants were Charlotte Brink, Lauren McAllister, Erin Forbes, Catlyn Forbes, Cammie Wolf, Anna Reis, and Nola Wentworth, and leading the pack were Courtney Blake and owner, Di-Anne Ward.

These leading doctors are like brothers.

They're part of the MaineHealth® family.

NOW OUR FAMILY CAN DO MORE FOR YOURS. At Stephens Memorial Hospital and Maine Medical Center, we're all a close-knit group. Dr. Kumaki and Dr. Kramer work together frequently. They're part of MaineHealth®, the premier family of healthcare services in southern, central, and western Maine. As a family, we can offer you a wider circle of quality care. This includes ready access to Maine's leading hospitals and healthcare facilities. Plus a connection to MaineHealth's wide range of services, specialists, and community programs. FAMILY TIES WITH MMC. Stephens Memorial Hospital and Maine Medical Center have had close ties for years. This opens the door to all that Maine's largest hospital has to offer: the foremost heart surgery program in southern, central, and western Maine; Maine's only Level I-eligible trauma service; exclusive Level III neonatal care; nationally accredited cancer research; and more. Much more. A GROWING FAMILY TREE. With strong local roots, Stephens Memorial has always offered outstanding care. Under the Western Maine Health umbrella, our community services have continued to expand. Now, as a part of MaineHealth, our healthcare network is growing even stronger. That puts you in the care of Maine's best and brightest. And we're branching out all the time. For more information on how our family serves you, please call 207-743-5933.

Obituaries

GLENNICE M. ROBERTS

Glennice M. Roberts, 71, of Andover, died Friday August 24, 2001 at the Rumford Hospital, Rumford, Me. A lifelong resident of the Andover area, she resided on South Main St. in Andover.

She was born in Andover on April 13, 1930, the daughter of Kenneth and Vivian (Learned) Silver. She attended Gould Academy in Bethel and graduated from Andover High School Class of 1948.

She had worked as a switchboard operator in Andover and also as a teacher's aid in the Andover Elementary School.

Mrs. Roberts was a member of the Andover Congregational Church; a past member of the Andover Service Circle; and was a past trustee of the Andover Library Association; she enjoyed crafts, fishing and camp at Garland Pond, her pets, and loved her children and grandchildren.

She was married in Augusta, on Sept. 4, 1948 to Colby A. Roberts of Andover, who survives. Other survivors include a son Alston K. Roberts and his companion Linda Woods of Mexico, three grandchildren: Howard Roberts of Andover, Mrs. Rebecca Winslow and her husband Lawrence of Rumford, and Melissa Newcomb of Livermore Falls, two great grandchildren, a sister Mrs. Ethelene Merrill and her husband Eugene of Coleman, Fla. and Andover; several nieces and nephews. She was pre-deceased by a daughter, Mona Lynn Roberts, who died in Andover on Jan. 10, 1978 and a son Ashley K. Roberts who died in Rumford, on Feb. 8, 1979.

Graveside services were held at Tuesday, Aug. 28, 2001, at the Woodlawn Cemetery, Andover, with Rev. David A. Willhoite officiating. Donations in her memory may be made to the Andover Rescue Unit, Andover, ME. 04216.

ESTHER J. WHEELER

Esther Josephine Wheeler, age 86, died Sunday August 26, 2001 at St. Francis Hospital in Hartford, Conn.

She was born in West Paris on June 2, 1915, the daughter of Samuel I. and Maude L. Bryant Wheeler.

She attended schools in West Paris and graduated from West Paris High School in the class of 1933. She had been employed at Penley's in West Paris, and A.C. Lawrence Tannery in South Paris. She had also worked in the accounting department as a bookkeeper for the furniture account at G. Fox Department Store in Hartford for 31 years.

She was a member of the North Paris Federated Church, the West Paris Alumni Association, and the Asylum Street Baptist Church in Hartford. She had resided in Hartford since 1946, moving there from the West Paris area.

She is survived by two nieces; Priscilla Cole Durden, of Williamsburg, Va.; Mary Jane Cole Patterson, of Las Vegas, Nevada, one nephew Sherman L. Cole of Wyckoff, N.J. one cousin George Wheeler of South Paris.

Graveside services were held Wednesday, Aug. 29, 2001 at the Wayside Cemetery in West Paris. The Rev. Gregory Young officiated. Those who wish may make contributions in Esther's name to the North Paris Federated Church, c/o Fred Oja, 69 North Paris Rd., West Paris.

ELIZABETH 'BETSY' BAKER

Miss Elizabeth "Betsy" Baker, 94 died Wednesday Aug. 22, 2001 at her home in Rumford Point, Maine. She has lived in the area for the past 20 years. She was formerly of New York.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y. on October 10, 1906, she was the daughter of Dr. Frank and Louise (Hayes) Baker. She attended schools in Rumford Point, Wanfleet School in Portland, Kent Place School in Summit, N.J. and Smith College in Northampton, Mass.

She attended the Rumford Point Congregational Church and was also a member of the Brick Church in Manhattan, New York and the Christian Valley Literary Club.

She is survived by a second cousin Rawson Wood of Center Harbor, N. H., her special caretakers Mrs. Judith Fyberg, Mrs. Louise Blais, and Mrs. Kathy Shields, as well as by her friends and neighbors. She was predeceased by a sister, Florence Baker.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Rumford Point Congregational Church, with interment in the Greenwood Cemetery in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Card of Thanks

Nothing cheers a hospital room as much as a flood of greeting cards and notes from well wishers. Back home a heartfelt "thank you" to all.

Barbara L. Kuzyk

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all who sent us 56th Anniversary cards. Violet would like to thank friends, relatives and neighbors for food, cards, calls, visits, flowers and prayers while she was hospitalized in the Rumford Hospital and Maine Medical for 14 days. Special thanks to her husband and to the sons and their wives.

Mr. and Mrs. David Haley Jr.

Doreen Morin and David Haley Jr. were united in marriage at 3 p.m. on June 2, 2001 at the Albany Congregational Church with Pastor Rodney Hanscom officiating. Mrs. Haley is the daughter of Roberta and Donald Morin of Albany Township. Mr. Haley is the son of Kathleen Haley of Waterford and David Haley Sr. of Pinellas Park, Fla.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Cinderella floor-length ivory gown and a shoulder-length veil. She carried a bouquet of purple and white lilacs and lilies of the valley.

Billie-Jo Kelly, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kim Brown, friend of the bride; Esther Booth, sister of the bride; and Jennifer Morin, cousin of the bride. The flower girl was Renee Kelly, cousin of the bride.

Michael Haley, brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Skip Bennett, friend of the bride; Richard Smith, friend of the groom; Chris Robinson, cousin of the bride; and Matthew Morin, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

A reception followed at Jackson-Silver American Legion Hall in Locke Mills, after which the couple went to the Norseman Inn and then on to Portland and the Maine coast.

The bride graduated from Telstar Regional High School in Bethel, attended Nyack College in Nyack, N.Y., and the University of Maine at Farmington. She is employed at Wal-Mart in Oxford.

The groom graduated from Edward Little High School in Auburn. He is employed at Wal-Mart in Oxford.

Card of Thanks

The Gilead Fire Department would like to thank the Bethel and Newry Fire Departments for the mutual aid help.

We would like to also thank the private citizens who donated snacks, their time and four-wheelers to transport water to all the firemen who helped fight the woods fire on the Chadbourne property on the Bog Road, Gilead, Monday, August 13th.
